INSPIRE MOTIVATE RECOGNIZE

Part of the secret to motivating your players is by rewarding their progress and recognizing their achievements. This isn't something that starts only after students become star players, it is part of the process from the beginning. From their first time on the field, students must be consistently recognized for hard work in order to motivate and inspire them to play their hardest.

The Neff company has been helping educators motivate America's students since 1949. The cornerstones of our values are tradition, reward and recognition. We are honored to be a part of each student's life. We recognize that it is a daunting task to develop an awards system that recognizes and rewards your students at each level of achievement. Our knowledgeable and experienced sales representatives take pride in helping schools develop awards systems that reward outstanding student achievement. A full 4 year awards system helps with retention and motivation within your team. The students know what they're working toward and are eager to achieve each step.
